About

THE BELL TOWER BOURBON CLUB

As you know by now, the Brooklyn Arts Center features one of the most renowned bourbon bars in the region: the Bell Tower Tasting Room. Located on the spectacular church balcony, our tasting room has been the bourbon bar for countless weddings, rehearsal dinners, private functions, corporate get-togethers, and holiday parties. As the Bell Tower grew in substance—we now offer more than 100 of the world's finest bourbons and ryes—it also grew in popularity. Not to blow our own horn (okay, maybe a little), but folks far and wide flat-out love our bourbon bar as much as we do. They tell us all the time. That's how we know it's true.

So, we took all that love and all that beautiful bourbon into consideration, spent the better part of a year thinking, planning, dreaming, and scheming, and are now pumped to present the newest addition to our fabulous family: The Bell Tower Bourbon Club!

We're stoked! We always wanted to host the coolest club in town, and now we're going to make it happen in the best way possible for the people we care about the most...you!

How it Works

- Because of the reality of the size of the balcony, The Bell Tower Bourbon Club is limited to 50 members. And like every cool club, there's a membership fee, which for us is $250 per year. You first fabulous 50 members get a commemorative bourbon glass, so that's pretty swell right off the bat.

There will be quarterly club meetings, usually on a Wednesday, from 6:30-9:30 pm. These quarterly meet-ups will focus on a particular bourbon and distillery. We'll try to get a bourbon rep from our featured bottle to attend the party and educate us on the process of creating such a fine libation. But our special, BAC bourbon bartenders can more than handle their own when it comes to our bourbons, so an amazing evening is lined up four times a year...just to get the party started.

We'll hold an unforgettable member-guest event once a year. We think this is going to be a big dang deal. Maybe live music. Maybe dinner. A special night out, no doubt.

1. Let's be clear, members can drink their bourbon however they like, although, in our wide world of whiskey experience, anything other than neat, rocks, or splash may cause confusion among the ranks.

2. If we know another thing, it's planning. Members should alert us if they're unable to attend an event...so we can plan accordingly.

3. And here's the big thing—we thought about this a lot—when we're drinking fine bourbon and loving our time and each other on the BAC balcony, there will be no politics, religion, or push-button stuff. It's bourbon night, y'all. That's why you're in the club, to get away from all that, share the best whiskey, and laugh like there's no tomorrow with some of the finest folks anywhere.
